A MESSAGE FROM OUR CEO

In March 1984, a group of community volunteers came together to create the Ottawa Food Bank.

These were 11 people who saw a need in our community, rallied together, and made a historic impact on the city of Ottawa. Using their passion and skills, they created a new way of working together. A way of working together that is connected, builds on strengths and allows everyone to participate - something we aspire to 40 years later.

I am incredibly grateful and honoured that so many volunteers have chosen the Ottawa Food Bank and the network to share their time and talent. The power and impact of volunteers are felt every day in our network. Not only in the day-to-day work but because of your commitment, compassion, and kindness for the community.

As the need in the community continues to grow at historic levels, the impact of volunteers is felt so deeply. Thank you for sharing your gifts with the Ottawa Food Bank and the thousands of people who access a food bank every month.

We can't be the Ottawa Food Bank without Ottawa!

MESSAGES FROM OUR VOLUNTEER RESOURCES TEAM

Jo-Anne Turple
Manager,
Volunteer Resources

While Ben Franklin said, “lost time is never found again”, I believe that time donated by Ottawa Food Bank volunteers, multiplies exponentially.

Looking at the 40-year history of the Ottawa Food Bank, I would be remiss not to point out that this organization was started by a group of volunteers coming together to better serve our community members. Volunteer time is a powerful thing. Ottawa Bank volunteers have been supporting our community for 4 decades and counting.

Who volunteers at the Ottawa Food Bank? We are so fortunate to have a mix of long-time dedicated volunteers as well as those who can spare a few hours per year. Our volunteers are humble, funny, insightful, skilled and experienced, and simply the best ambassadors the Ottawa Food Bank could ask for. We have #OttawasBestVolunteers!

We would like to extend a special thank you to the corporate and community groups that continue to support volunteering by organizing and attending with team members. These groups return year over year to work in a warehouse, as well as our farm as well as provide support with sponsorships, grants and participate in our signature fundraising events.

Due to the passion, support and dedication to the Ottawa Food Bank, each volunteer truly makes every moment matter.

Adam Janes
Coordinator,
Volunteer Resources

It was the end of March 2023, new building, new coordinator (me) and a challenging need ahead due to inflation and cost of living crisis. Since that time, we have been in awe of the care and response of our volunteer community. It has been an absolute pleasure to engage with hundreds of people and help to set up hundreds of volunteer opportunities across the city for so many amazing people.

When we called out for regular weekly sorting volunteers to sign up for another year of weekly shifts, we were delighted when 95% returned an emphatic ‘yes, I will be back’. Then we looked at the farm where 228 individuals gave us 3,237.5 hours of care for our plants.

We recognize the 9 amazing souls who drove all over Ottawa to make thousands of deliveries of emergency hampers. We are grateful for the extra welcoming smile and helpful hands and voices in our reception and behind the scenes, the Ottawa Food Bank becomes that much more caring and helpful because of you.

Looking out at a Food Drive Saturday, we see over 150 people across the city helping, caring for and encouraging others to give us the food we need to distribute back to those who need it most.

Your individual care in curation, welcome, delivery, engagement, cultivation and more make us a more caring organization. To also borrow from the national theme, you make every Ottawa Food Bank moment more meaningful and more impactful.
